A JUDGESHIP IN JEOPARDY. TRIAL OF JUSTICE PINCKNEY-OPINIONS AS TO WHAT

CONSTITUTES INTOXICATION. Additional testimony in behalf of the de fence was presented yesterday at the Pinckney trial be fore the referee, Oliver P. Buel. Much of the evidence was like that previously offered by the defence. The witnesses had been present in Justice Pinckney's court and had not observed any indications of intoxication in

William B. Farley, lawyer, testified that he had been present at nearly every case tried by Justice Pinesney. On one occasion the Justice had appeared to be very "Did you know that Justice Pinckney had suffered from chills and fever ?" asked Mr. Reavey of the Justice's counsel. "No; I had heard that the disease was fever

On cross-examination Mr. Farley said he had visited Justice Pinckney's private room, but he did not rememer that he had drank liquor there with him. He ad-sisted that he had heard in the court-room expression of dissatisfaction at the absence of Justice Enckuey and discussions as to his intoxication. The witness di-ot consider a man drank unless he was unable to fin-its way house.

kinas G. Levy, a lawyer, testified that he had an ice two doors from the Court House which he visited ariy every-trial day. ITALIAN CHILDREN IN SERVITUDE. DECISION AGAINST THE PADRONE SYSTEM BY JUDGE DAVIS.

the proceeding by Archangelo Fosco to et possession of his younger brother and nephew from the Commissioners of Emigration, Judge Davis, in Sueme Court. Chambers, rendered yesterday his decision. The three children and another were brought here by Raphael de Grazia. The motion to surrender them was chiefly opposed by Lewis L. Delaffeld, attorney for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. dd by the Judge Davis holds that the children respondents at the request of the Consul General of Italy, until provision be made for their return to Italy, Italy, until provision be made for their return to Italy, as children unlawfully abducted for a species of servinde here. Under the circumstances he holds that the court should not interfere with their custody unless it be necessary for their personal safety.

The Judge continues: "The Commissioners of Emgration act wisely in their efforts to prevent the traffic said to be carried on by the introduction of Italian children hought of their parents, or forcibly or fraudulently abducted for the purpose of using them as organ grinders or rag pickers in this country, and they should aid the representaives of the Italian Government to break up the nefarious business." The writ was therefore dismissed, and the children remanded.

A DECISION FOR THE NEW-YORK CENTRAL. Judge Davis, in Supreme Court, Chambers, has denied the motion to stay proceedings in the matter of taking property by the New-York Central and Hudson of taking property by the New-York Central and Hudson River Bailroad Company between Sixty-fifth and Seventy-second-sta, on the Hudson River. He says: "I think the proceedings ought not to be stayed. At this stage an order of stay is quite sure to produce unnecessary delays, both in bringing appeals and in pressing them to a hearing. No harm will result in allowing the hearing before the Commissioners to proceed pending the appeal, and if necessary the General Term can take care that none of the rights of the appellants are prejudiced by the action of the Commissioners. If the appellants shall ultimately prevail they will sustain no injury by the proceedings before the Commissioners, because the cost must in any event be at the cost of the railroad company, and will be taxable in favor of the appellants if they are successful. The motion should be denied without prejudice to an application for a stay to be made at the General Term, whenever appeals are ready for hearing."

The proceeding of the College of the City of New-York to enforce its allowance of $140,000 for the coming year, has been abandoned on an understand-ing that the Board of Apportionment will allow that

In the suit brought by Edward G. Tinker against the pilot of the John Stilwagen, for stopping at Master, Judge McAdam held yesterday, in Marine Court, that in this case the order was not unreasonable, and the pilot having disobeyed it must pay the penalty provided by law, $50.

Bartlett & Greene, the owners of a warehouse in Furman-st., Brooklyn, last Summer creeted a lofty elevator on their building. This was complained of by persons living on Columbia Heights, and the city began proceedings in the City Court for the removal of the structure, on the ground that its erection was an intraction of the fire laws. Judge McQue rendered a decision vesterday, declaring that the elevator is not a building in the eye of the law.

Judge Speir, in Superior Court, Special Term, has given his decision on the demurrer in the ease of Peter Marié and others against Cornelius K. Garrison. The suit is brought to recover the value of 36,000 shares of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, of which the plaintiffs declare they were deprived by the reorganization of the road with Garrison as president. The plaintiffs sue for $3,600,000 damages. The defendant's demurrer is sustained by Judge Speir.

A TRIBUTE TO JUDGE SUTHERLAND.

HEARTY WORDS OF ESTEEM AND PRIENDSHIP TO THE RETIRING JUDGE FROM LEADING MEMBERS OF THE BENCH AND BAR.

A very full meeting of the members of the bench and bar was held yesterday, in Supreme Court, General Term room, to declare, at the close of Judge Sutherland's judicial life, their appreciation of his character and work. Judge Sutherland has been nearly forty years in official life, and over twenty years in a judical position; he retires because of the Constitutional provision limiting judicial functions to those under seventy years of age. The affectionate feeling for him was revealed yesterday in strong and even remarkable manifestations. District-Attorney B. K. Phelps cailed the meeting to order and named as president Chief-Justice Noah Davis, and as vice-presidents Chief-Justices Curtis, Daly and Alker, and Judges Barrett, Donohue, Lawrence, Speir, Van Hoesen, J. F. Daly, George Sneat John K. Hackett, and Henry A. Gildersleeve, and Wil-Hackett, Frederick Smyth, William P. Prentice and Hackett. Frederick Smyth, William P. Frentice and William F. Kintzing, were appointed secretaries. Among others present were Judge Cowing, ex-Judge Henry E. Davies, ex-Judge William Fullerton, ex-Judge A. B. Tappan, ex-Judge Dittenhoefer, Charles A. Peabody, Joseph H. Choate, David Dudley Field, John R. Fellows, Daniel G. Rollins, H. H. Anderson, John Sparks, Henry H. Howland, Elliott F. Shepard, G. W. Lyon, Charles W. Brooke and Elliun Root.

As soon as Judge Davis and the other officers had taken their seats, ex-Judge William Feillerton read a "declaration," the substance of which is as follows; "The Hon, Josiah Sutherland is about closing a long, useful and honorable judicial career. For the past two tyyears he has adorned the bench of this State, and now retires from it with a name unchailenged for integrity, in the enjoyment of the entire confidence of his fellow-citizens, and having won for himself a place among the most distinguished jurists who have preceded him. During his judicial life he has occupied the bench of the Supreme Court, and of the Court of Appeals. In none of these positions has he failed to evince that kindness of heart, that evenness of temper, that mingled shrewdness and strength of understanding, and that smeerity man'y qualities of Judge Satherland, deprecating any present discussion of his abhities, as he had not yet on lived his usefulness. Chief-fusite Daly and Chief-Jus-tice Davis then followed with brief remarks, expressing

UNAVAILING SEARCH FOR JOHN W. HULL-SIORY OF HIS EMBEZZLEMENTS AS BOOKKEEPER FOR

AN IMPORTING FIRM. The disappearance of John W. Hull with $30,000 of United States 4 2 per cent bonds belonging to Field & James, was the subject of general conversation yesterday on the Stock Exchange. M. Morgan's Sens from whom Mr. Hull bought a bill of exchange for £50, and for which he did not pay, received a note yesteroay in Mr. Hull's handwriting inclosing $245 in currency. In the note he says: "I am very sorry that your £50 should have been overlooked. I gave directions that it should be paid two weeks ago and more; that is, the day after the purchase. I now enclose $215." The note was dated New-overlooked. I gave directions that it should be paid two weeks ago and more; that is, the day after the purchase. I now enclose $215." The note was dated New-York, November 30, 1878, and was mailed at the General Post Office on Sunday at 11:30 p. m. By some this is understood as indicating that Hull is still in the city, and that this money was sent by him in response to M. Morran's Sons' personal of Sunday. Mr. Morgan said yesterday that Mr. Hull had returned this money for prudential reasons, knowing that the draft would not reach London until December 27.

Detectives visited the Park Avenue Hotel yesterday, where it was learned that Hull paid his hotel bill on Saturday morning. About 2 p. m. he sent a man, who represented himself to be Hull's brother-in-law, for his baggage, and the porter put on a coupé two trunks, a came and a valise. The coupé drove up Park-ave, and thus far the driver has not been found. Yesterday the detectives opened a valise which was not called for, and in it they found several letters, dated in 1869 and 1870, from Hull's wife and children, who were then in Germany. Since then it is understood that his wife has died. In the valise there were a jet-black wiz, and a notice of toroclosure of mortgage by the Equitable Life Assurance Society agament Wulfang and others, J. W. Hull being one of the defendants—it is supposed as agent of an estate left by a late Greek merchant.

Investigation into Hull's anticecedents yesterday showed that he had been connected with another dishonest transaction. Thomas Powell Fewier, of the law firm of Dunning, Edsail, Hart & Fowler, said yesterday: In 1876 J. W. Hull was bookkeeper and accountant for a targe an importing firm. He entered their employ in 1870, coming highly recommended and they believed him to be a man of wealth who desired to employ his time in active business. He received a salary of $2,500 a year. In 1876 one of the clima discovered that Hull had swindled the firm out of $33,000 by making false and fictitious entries, false footings, over
